Specification

Applicant is requested to amend the first line of the specification to refer to the claim for priority to PCT/JP02/05639.

Improper Multiple Dependent Claims

Claims 10 and 17-19 are objected to under 37 CFR 1.75(c) as being in improper form because a multiple dependent claim cannot depend from another multiply dependent claim. See MPEP § 608.01(n). Accordingly, claims 10 and 17-19 have not been further treated on the merits.

Election of Species Requirement

This application contains claims directed to more than one species of the generic invention. These species are deemed to lack unity of invention because they are not so linked as to form a single general inventive concept under PCT Rule 13.1.

The species are as follows:

Alkyl glycoside surfactants, polyglycerin fatty acid ester surfactants, sucrose fatty acid ester surfactants, and betaine surfactants.

Applicant is required, in reply to this action, to elect a single species to which the claims shall be restricted if no generic claim is finally held to be allowable. The reply must also identify the claims readable on the elected species, including any claims subsequently added. An argument that a claim is allowable or that all claims are generic is considered non-responsive unless accompanied by an election.

Upon the allowance of a generic claim, applicant will be entitled to consideration of claims to additional species which are written in dependent form or otherwise include all the limitations of an allowed generic claim as provided by 37 CFR 1.141. If claims are added after the election, applicant must indicate which are readable upon the elected species. MPEP § 809.02(a).

The following claim(s) are generic: 1 and 11.

The species listed above do not relate to a single general inventive concept under PCT Rule 13.1 because, under PCT Rule 13.2, the species lack the same or corresponding special technical features for the following reasons:

The prior art demonstrates that oral care compositions do not always contain at least one type of the claimed surfactants; and that certain surfactants have unique properties not possessed by the others. See, for example, the machine translation of Japan 2001-039842, which teaches that sucrose fatty acid ester surfactants are specially able to provide compositions capable of gel strength adjustment at low temperatures.

Accordingly, Japan 2001-039842 is viewed as “destroying the unity” of the instantly claimed group of surfactants.

During a telephone conversation with Mr. Mulcheen on 02/21/06 a provisional election was made with traverse to prosecute the species of surfactant “betaine”.

Affirmation of this election must be made by applicant in replying to this Office action.

Art Unit: 1614

Claims 3-6 are withdrawn from further consideration by the examiner, 37 CFR 1.142(b), as being drawn to a non-elected invention.

Indefiniteness Rejection

The following is a quotation of the second paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall conclude with one or more claims particularly pointing out and distinctly claiming the subject matter which the applicant regards as his invention.

Claims 2, 15 and 16 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention.

Claims 2, 15 and 16 the claimed percentage values are unclear because the standard for their determination has not been provided.

Where values can vary depending on the basis for their determination, the claimed subject matter may be indefinite. See Honeywell Intl. v. Intl. Trade Commn., 341 F.3d 1332, 1340 (Fed. Cir. 2003). (Holding that, where a claimed value varies with its method of measurement and several alternative methods of measurement are available, the value is indefinite when the claim fails to concurrently recite the method of measurement used to obtain it).

In order to overcome this ground of rejection the examiner recommends inserting the phrase “of the oral composition” after each occurrence of the term “weight”.

Anticipation Rejection

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

1) Claims 1, 2, 11, 12 and 14-16 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Japan 2001-039842 (machine translation).

The text description of Table 5 (see the last paragraph on page 4 of the machine translation) discloses an oral care composition comprising 0.01 weight percent cetylpyridinium chloride, 2.00 weight percent crystalline cellulose, and mono-oleic acid poly glyceryl surfactant.

2) Claims 1, 2, 7-9 and 11-16 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by WO 95/34275.

The prior art discloses oral care compositions comprising 0.5 to 25, preferably 1 to 10, and most preferably 5 percent by weight crystalline cellulose (page 4, lines 23-25). Working example 6 at page 19 discloses a composition containing crystalline cellulose, 0.1 weight percent hexitidine (a cationic biguanide bactericide), and 4.5 percent cocoamido propyl betaine surfactant. Other preferred cationic bactericides include the biguanide chlorhexidine, and the quaternary ammonium salt cetyl pyridinium chloride (page 11, lines 3-8).
